

Overcoming Census Challenges with Hard-to-Count Populations: A Focus on the Latino Community

COG is hosting a roundtable for COG members and Latino officials in metropolitan Washington to highlight plans for reaching out to the Latino community during the 2010 Census and to discuss successful strategies and best practices.

The 2010 Census is a once-in-a-decade opportunity to count the National Capital Region's diverse and growing population. The Latino community is one of the largest parts of this regional mosaic and lessons learned will help ensure a complete count of everyone.

Monday March 15, 2010
10:00 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.

Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments
777 North Capitol Street NE,
First Floor, Training Center
Washington, D.C. 20002

By Invitation Only

Invitees include area elected officials, U.S. Census officials, representatives of community-based organizations active in Census outreach, and other regional leaders.

To RSVP or for more information, please call 202-962-3277 or e-mail
census@mwcog.org

United States[®]
Census
2010

Metropolitan Washington
Council of Governments