THE SOLUTION

TPB’s Visualize 2045 plan prioritizes initiatives that make the most of every dollar, offering everyone in the region more options for where to live and how to get around. Here’s how:

Concentrate land use in Activity Centers where housing, jobs, and transit are close to each other

Circulate people in Activity Centers via safe, accessible travel options for work and play

Connect Activity Centers via high-capacity regional transit and express highways

Aspirational Initiatives

- Bring jobs and housing closer together
- Improve walk and bike access to transit
- Complete the National Capital Trail Network
- Expand bus rapid transit and transitways
- Move more people on Metrorail
- Expand the express highway network
- Increase telecommuting and other options for commuting

THE IMPACT

Improved quality of life
- Vibrant, mixed-use communities
- More and affordable housing options
- More time with family and friends

More ways to get around
- Equitable, accessible, safe choices
- Shorter trips
- Options to walk, bike, drive, and take transit to work and play

Improved economic competitiveness
- More reliable and reduced travel times
- More efficient movement of goods
- Greater access to employment opportunities

Source: TPB

By 2045, metropolitan Washington will be home to 1.2 million more people and 1 million more jobs. Available funding for transportation and the types of planned improvements can’t do enough to prevent significant increases in congestion and travel delays.

Transportation Dollars

- 78% System Maintenance
- 22% Improvement Projects

Visualization 2045

A long-range transportation plan for the National Capital Region

visualize2045.org

Think regionally, act locally.

Plan Together. Prosper Together.

Back local transportation projects that support these efforts.