The 105th Annual Meeting of the Transportation Research Board (TRB) will be held January 11-15, 2026, in Washington, D.C. This memo documents the planned COG/DTP staff participation at this TRB Annual Meeting. The focus of this memo is on staff in COG's Department of Transportation Planning (DTP).

This memo includes two tables of information:

- Table 1 COG/TPB staff who attended the TRB Annual Meeting this year
- Table 2 COG/TPB staff membership on TRB standing committees

TRB standing committees typically meet during the Annual Meeting. Committee members and friends are responsible for conducting much of the work undertaken by TRB, such as reviewing papers and planning other conferences, although this work is typically done outside of the annual meeting.

The information in this memo was solicited from all COG DTP staff¹ via email. Meeting "attendance" is defined as any reported attendance, which could vary from one session/workshop to attending several days of the conference. Note that it is also possible that a staff member might participate with TRB, such as participation with a standing committee during the year but might not attend the annual meeting.

As noted in Table 1, 10 staff plan to attend this annual meeting.

¹ A courtesy copy of the email was sent to Greg Goodwin and Steve Kania, who are in the cc list.

TPB staff participation with TRB standing committees this year is summarized in Table 2. The nature of the participation is either member or friend. Both members and friends typically review papers, though members typically review more papers than friends. Members and friends are also free to abstain from paper reviews, although the expectations for paper reviews are higher for members.
